

Charity Knitting for Indo America Indo American Center – Chicago IL 60659

One of our newest knitters meet the challenge of making/collecting over 80 hats for the Indo American Center. Aamera Zafer who started to machine knit only this past September received a request from her husband to provide over 80 hats to all the attendees at the Holiday get together. While she did have some help from other InterKnit knitters, she personally made about 75% of the hats that were distributed. A remarkable feat for getting started in the beginning of November and being a new knitter. As you can see from the pictures below, Aamera got very creative with doing, hand tooled lace, no float Fair Isle, several tuck stitches, two color slip, false rib and plating. Just goes to show even making hats can be a real learn experience and chance to be creative. It is great to put faces to our charity knitting.
